13 Şubat 1961'de kurulan Türkiye İşçi Partisi, Türkiye siyasal tarihinin en önemli olaylarından biridir. TİP'in gelişip güçlenmesinde parti sözcülerinin efsanevi radyo konuşmalarının çok önemli bir yeri vardır. Türkiye proletaryasının sözcüleri, 1961-1971 döneminde, bambaşka bir dile, bambaşka bir seslenişe ve bambaşka bir içeriğe sahip konuşmalarıyla o zamana kadar devletin ağız olan radyoyu 'proletaryanın büyüğü kutusu'na çevirmişlerdi. Proletaryanın Büyüğü Kutusu, TİP sözcülerinin altı seçim için yaptıkları efsanevi radyo konuşmalarının metinlerini içermekle kalmıyor. Mehmet Ali Aybar'dan Yaşar Kemal'e, Kemal Türkler'den Can Yücel'e, Rıza Kuas'tan Hamdoş'a, Tarık Ziya Ekinci'den Çetin Altan'a TİP'in çok etkili hatiplerinin radyoda yaptığı konuşmaların ses kayıtlarını da içinde barındırıyor. Bu tarihî konuşmalar karekodlar aracılığıyla dinlenebiliyor. Proletaryanın Büyüğü Kutusu'nun sayfalarından dinlenebilen radyo konuşmaları, onları dinlemeseler hayatları normalde bambaşka yönde akabilecek gençleri, aydınları, işçileri ve köylüleri sosyalist mücadelenin içine çekmiş ve TİP bayrağı altında toplayabilmişti. Proletaryanın Büyüğü Kutusu sosyalistlerin devlet radyosundan yaptıkları konuşmalarla hayatı değişen insanların öykülerini anlattığı gibi bu konuşmaları yapan kişilerin portrelerine de yer veriyor. Kitapta Şekibe Çelenk'ten Mehmet Ali Aybar'a, Behice Boran'dan Hamdoş'a, Nazife Cemgil'den Kemal Türkler'e, Yaşar Kemal'den Can Yücel'e,

Hasan Hüseyin Korkmazgil'den Tarık Ziya Ekinci'ye tam 43 portre yer alıyor. Proletaryanın Büyüğü Kutusu'nun sayfalarında size Hamdoş'un masum ve cesur sesi, Abidin Dino'nun eşsiz desenleri, Moris Gabbay'ın tarihî fotoğrafları ve titiz bir araştırmamanın zengin bilgisi eşlik ediyor. Büyüğü bir yolculuk sizi bekliyor...

"Siyavush of Our Century" was written by political visionary Mammad Amin Rasulzadeh (1884-1955) who headed the Musavat Party and helped set up the Azerbaijan parliamentary democratic republic in 1918, the first such republic of Turks and Muslims in the eastern world. The turmoil of the times, however, proved too much for Rasulzadeh's young government. On April 25, 1920, Bolshevik troops crossed into Azerbaijan and entered Baku on April 28. They demanded the resignation of Azerbaijan's Parliament and set up their own government. The fledgling democracy, in only its 23rd month, collapsed immediately. Azerbaijan remained under communist rule until the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991. "Siyavush of Our Century" is a unique work of politics & history, philosophy & literature founded upon the ancient myths and legends of the Turkik peoples. It was written in July 1920 and first published in Istanbul in 1925. It is widely recognised as a classic by the people of Azerbaijan.

1970'li yıllarda Kırşehir'de yaşayan Bahtiyar Turna, Türkmen Abdal geleneğinin canlı örneklerinden biridir. Bir yandan toplumda 'çalgıcı' olmaktan öteye gidemezken, diğer yandan kıymet verilen bir 'sanatçı' olmanın ikilemini yaşar. Kırşehir'de başlayan öyküsü, Ankara'da devam edecek, Almanya'ya kadar uzanmaya çalışacaktır. Herkes gibi o da sever, sevilir, terk edilir, üzülür, sevinir, coşar, hüzünler yaşar... Ancak onun herkesten farklı bir özelliği vardır: O, sözünü saziyla birlikte dile getirir. Küçük adımlarla başladığı yolculukta, türküleri dilden dile dolaşan bir insan haline gelecek ancak istediği şeyi: Ayrımcılıktan kurtulmayı, başarabilecek midir? Uğur Becerikli'nin düzyazı yanında şiire olan eğiliminin de vücut bulduğu 'Abdaloğlu' romanında, bu çabanın ürünleri olan şiirler de yer almaktadır. Addiction Controversies Duke University Press

Bullying At Work Psychology Press
The relationship between fiction and historiography in Francoist Spain (1939-1975) is a contentious one. The intricacies of this relationship, in which fiction works to subvert the regime's authority to write the past, are the focus of David K. Herzberger's book. The narrative and rhetorical strategies of historical discourse figure in both the fiction and historiography of postwar Spain. Herzberger analyzes these strategies, identifying the structures and vocabularies they use to frame the past and endow it with particular meanings. He shows how Francoist historians sought to affirm the historical necessity of Franco by linking the regime to a heroic and Christian past, while several types of postwar fiction—such as social realism, the novel of memory, and postmodern novels—created a voice of opposition to this practice. Focusing on the concept of writing history that these opposing strategies convey, Herzberger discloses the layering of truth and meaning that lies at the heart of postwar Spanish narrative from the early 1940s to the fall of Franco. His study clearly reveals how the novel in postwar Spain became a crucial form of dissent from the past as it was conceived and used by the State. Making a decisive intervention in the debate about the ways in which narration determines both the meaning and truth of history and fiction, Narrating the Past will be of special interest to students and scholars of the politics, history, and literature of twentieth-century Spain.

Turkish cinema is a bigger cinema than we have been narrated. This first series of Turkish Cinema Researches represents an important step to illuminate both the past and the present aspects that remained in the dark. There are many points that need to be discussed in the Turkish cinema. In this vein, the first series of this book makes a significant contribution to illuminate the dark sides. In this study, the social equivalent of cinema, social problems, political events, directors' views on cinema and the contribution of Turkish cinema to the use of space or representation of the issues are discussed.

Together With Atatürk; From Erzurum Until His Death Virago

In 1976, Daniel Bell's historical work predicted a vastly different society developing—one that will rely on the “economics of information” rather than the “economics of goods.” Bell argued that the new society would not displace the older one but rather overlies some of the previous layers just as the industrial society did not completely eradicate the agrarian sectors of our society. The post-industrial society's dimensions would include the spread of a knowledge class, the change from goods to services and the role of women. All of these would be dependent on the expansion of services in the economic sector and an increasing dependence on science as the means of innovating and organizing technological change. Bell prophetically stated in The Coming of the Post-Industrial Society that we should expect “... new premises and new powers, new constraints and new questions—with the difference that these are now on a scale that had never been previously imagined in world history.”

In the past, the prototypes for characterizing drug use were heroin and cocaine, so that research has focused on possible commonalities between any substance and these drugs. Addiction controversies explores the problems of the commonalities approach by looking at dissimilarities as well. The first chapters of Addiction Controversies trace the development of modern medical attitudes to drug use and the current controversy over its decriminalization. The second set of chapters examines the extent to which drugs have common biological and sociological mechanisms of action and contrasts these explanations. The final chapters consider the extent to which the desires for different substances are the same and the biological and social explanations of relapse. Clinicians, researchers and students in all areas of substance use will be stimulated by these challenges to current thinking and will enjoy the comparative approach that is taken by the contributors to Addiction Controversies.

The Turkish War of Independence started in May 1919 with the arrival of Atatürk to Samsun. Mazhar Mufit Kansu was close to Atatürk from his arrival to Samsun until his death. This book covers the period from May 1919 to September 1919. In this period, we learn about the events that passed at the beginning of the Turkish War of Independence and the financial difficulties through Mazhar Mufit Kansu's interpretation. Mazhar Mufit Kansu published these memories in the newspaper "Son Telgraf" ("Last Telegram") in 1948. It was decided by the Turkish Historical Society to convert these articles into a book in 1963. In 2020, the first volume of the book was translated into English by Atatürk Research Center CT. Firstly, Ottoman Turkish texts, which appear mostly in the original Turkish copy, were translated into today's Turkish by a group of freelancers. Words, the meanings of which could not be found, were left unchanged; some of the Ottoman texts that require professional translation could not be translated into today's Turkish, and could not be added to this book. In addition, the Hijri calendar was converted into the Gregorian calendar, and the city names used in the Ottoman Turkish language were translated into today's language. The translation was made with an amateur spirit, and loyal to the original text as much as possible. We would like to thank Ms. Müge Sözen for her devoted work in this text, which is very difficult to translate. Atatürk

This book presents a review and criticism of all sociological literature on suicide, from Emile Durkheim's influential Suicide (1897) to contemporary writings by sociologists who have patterned their own work on Durkheim's. Douglas points out fundamental weaknesses in the structural-functional study of suicide, and offers an alternative theoretical approach. He demonstrates the unreliability of official statistics on suicide and contends that Durkheim's explanations of suicide rates in terms of abstract social meanings are founded on an inadequate and misleading statistical base. The study of suicidal actions, Douglas argues, requires an examination of the individual's own construction of his actions. He analyzes revenge, escape, and sympathy motives; using diaries, notes, and observers' reports, he shows how the social meanings of actual cases should be studied. Originally published in 1967.
