Throughout China's history there have been other strategists making notes on the Art of War to expand or improve upon it to make understandable to other government officials and newly trained military officers. Mastering the Art of War: Commentaries by Zhuge Liang and ... Sun Tzu said: In the practical art of war, the best thing of all is to take the enemy's country whole and intact; to shatter and destroy it is not so good. So, too, it is better to recapture an army entire than to destroy it, to capture a regiment, a detachment or a company entire than to destroy them. The Internet Classics Archive | The Art of War by Sun Tzu The Art of War is an ancient Chinese military treatise dating from the Late Spring and Autumn Period (roughly 5th century BC). The work, which is attributed to the ancient Chinese military strategist Sun Tzu ("Master Sun", also spelled Sunzi), is composed of 13 chapters.
