Digital Photography for Seniors In Easy Steps

For this Capstone Project, I utilized an Oral History research method, digital photography and other technological means to capture stories told by senior citizens that reflected their knowledge and values related to certain items of material culture. I asked five senior citizens to identify objects of particular meaning to them and share the stories and memories associated with those objects. Using the information shared by the senior citizens, I created two resources that art teachers, educators, assisted living staff and anyone interested in gerontology can utilize to help society gain a greater appreciation for senior citizens. The first resource is a video located on YouTube, entitled, "They won't let me out, but I can always travel with my memories." The second resource is a blog entitled, "Sharing memories because we are humans and not robots."

The blog will give readers the opportunity to tell their own stories and/or just read the stories posted by others to help stir memories of their own. The blog and additional information and resources related to the research are available at <http://katiekretchmar.com/>.

John Wiley & Sons
Digital Photography and Everyday Life: Empirical studies on material visual practices explores the role that digital photography plays within everyday life. With contributors from ten different countries and backgrounds in a range of academic disciplines - including anthropology, media studies and visual culture - this collection takes a uniquely broad perspective on photography by situating the image-making process in wider discussions on the materiality and visuality of photographic practices and explores these through empirical case studies. By focusing on material visual practices, the book presents a comprehensive overview of some of the main challenges digital photography is bringing to everyday life. It explores how the digitization of photography has a wide-reaching impact on the use of the medium, as well as on the kinds of images that can be produced and the ways in which camera technology is developed. The exploration goes beyond mere images to think about cameras, mediations and technologies as key elements in the development of visual digital cultures. Digital Photography and Everyday Life will be of great interest to students and scholars of Photography,

Contemporary Art, Visual Culture and Media Studies, as well as those studying Communication, Cultural Anthropology, and Science and Technology Studies. Digital Photo Editing with Picasa for Seniors Visual Steps B V Starkly honest and coldly beautiful, Room 103 is an unblinking study not only of life and death in the strife-torn middle east but also of Kramer's inner struggle to come to terms with the human failings, aesthetic limitations and brutal insights of his chosen path. Kramer captures an insider's perspective of everyday life in the Middle East, including intimate scenes rarely depicted in photographs from the Arab world. Images of intense violence are juxtaposed with domestic spaces, presenting the brutal reality of life during war. Digital Photography and Everyday Life Createspace Independent Pub This easy-to-understand guide helps seniors get started with Windows 7!
