Abstract: Current information on the etiology, effects, treatment and prevention of obesity provides a comprehensive source of information for practicing physicians. Emphasis is placed on the multicausal nature of obesity and the necessity of understanding this to increase effectiveness of treatment. Obesity is first defined and classified; there follows a discussion of its epidemiology and pathogenesis from early feeding patterns to crucial life events. The uncommon causes of obesity are identified, including metabolic and endocrinological abnormalities; related eating disorders, such as anorexia nervosa, are also discussed. The review of experimental data and psychodynamic theories of obesity provides factual and evaluative information on the anatomical, psychiatric, and sociocultural aspects of obesity. It is recommended that selection of treatment procedures (diet and exercise, drugs and surgery, psychological treatment, or any combination thereof) be based on individual evaluation and collaborative efforts of a health care team. "America's Children and the Environment (ACE)" is EPA's report presenting data on children's environmental health. ACE brings together information from a variety of sources to provide national indicators in the following areas: Environments and Contaminants, Biomonitoring, and Health. Environments and Contaminants indicators describe conditions in the environment, such as levels of air pollution. Biomonitoring indicators include contaminants measured in the bodies of children and women of child-bearing age, such as children's blood lead levels. Health indicators report the rates at which selected health outcomes occur among U.S. children, such as the annual percentage of children who currently have asthma. Accompanying each indicator is text discussing the relevance of the issue to children's environmental health and describing the data used in preparing the indicator. Wherever possible, the indicators are based on data sources that are updated in a consistent manner, so that indicator values may be compared over time.

The Changing Economic Geography of Globalization Yayasan Kita Menulis
The State of the World's Children 2011: Adolescence - An Age of Opportunity examines the global state of adolescents; outlines the challenges they face in health, education, protection and participation; and explores the risks and vulnerabilities of this pivotal stage. The report highlights the singular opportunities that adolescence offers, both for adolescents themselves and for the societies they live in. The accumulated evidence demonstrates that investing in adolescents' second decade is our best hope of breaking the intergenerational cycle of poverty and inequity and of laying the foundation for a more peaceful, tolerant and equitable world.

The process of globalization has had profound, often destabilizing, effects on space, at all levels (i.e. local, regional, national, international). This revealing book analyzes, both theoretically and empirically, the effects of globalization over space. It considers, through a dialogue among different paradigms, the ways in which space has become more important in the global economy. Globalization has been advocated as a way of shrinking time and space which will lead to a homogenized global market; a suggestion challenged in differing ways and with a variety of approaches by all the contributors to this volume. Leading authorities from a range of disciplines are represented amongst this impressive list of contributors, including Eric Sheppard, Bjørn Asheim, Richard Walker and Peter Swann. The chapters demonstrate persuasively the continuing, and even increasing, role of space in the global economy, and throughout, the book covers viewpoints from the fields of: international political economy economic geography regional and local economics. This impressive volume, which contains a selection of the best in contemporary scholarship, will be of interest to the international arena of academicians, policy makers and professionals in these or related fields.

"UNICEF's 2009 report Tracking Progress on Child and Maternal Nutrition drew attention to the impact of high levels of undernutrition on child survival, growth and development and their social and economic toll on nations. It described the state of nutrition programmes worldwide and argued for improving and expanding delivery of key nutrition interventions during the critical 1,000-day window covering a woman's pregnancy and the first two years of her child's life, when rapid physical and mental development occurs. This report builds on those earlier findings by highlighting new developments and demonstrating that efforts to scale up nutrition programmes are working, benefiting children in many countries."--P. 1.

Masalah nutrisi utama pada remaja adalah defisiensi mikronutrien, khususnya defisiensi zat besi yang lebih sering disebut sebagai anemia, juga gizi kurang dan perawakan pendek maupun gizi lebih sampai obesitas, yang keduanya seringkali berkaitan dengan perilaku makan salah dan gaya hidup. Remaja putri lebih rentan terkena anemia karena mereka berada pada masa pertumbuhan yang membutuhkan zat gizi yang lebih tinggi termasuk zat besi. Adanya siklus menstruasi setiap bulan merupakan salah satu faktor penyebab remaja putri terkena anemia defisiensi besi. Selain itu, remaja putri biasanya sangat memperhatikan bentuk badan, sehingga banyak yang membatasi konsumsi makan dan banyak pantangan terhadap makanan seperti pada diet vegetarian. Tujuan penulisan buku ini adalah untuk mengetahui Faktor-faktor yang berhubungan dengan Asupan zat besi remaja putri. Buku ini juga diharapkan mampu menjawab permasalahan risiko terjadinya defisiensi gizi besi pada remaja putri. Semoga bermanfaat bagi pembaca, khususnya bagi pemerhati masalah gizi remaja.
