Aspects of Ethiopian Languages NYU Press

William Dwight

Whitney (1827–94) was the foremost American philologist and Sanskrit scholar of the nineteenth century.

After studying in Germany, then at the forefront of linguistic scholarship, he assumed the chair of Sanskrit at Yale in 1854, with comparative philology added to his professorship in 1869. As well as teaching modern languages, Whitney published over 300 scholarly papers and books, acted as chief editor of the ten-volume Century Dictionary, and co-founded the American Philological Association. In this important 1875 work, the influence of evolutionary theory on other branches of nineteenth-century scholarship, not merely biology, is clear in the discussion of the development of language. Whitney's survey is wide-ranging, beginning with an examination of language acquisition and how language shapes or limits our thought processes. Stressing the scientific basis of historical linguistics, he further looks at how different languages have changed over time, in terms of grammatical form, pronunciation and meaning. Structure, Convergence, and Diglossia Darton Longman and Todd This short volume outlines some of the basic features of Ethiopian Christian literature. J.M. Harden attempts to offer insight to the laymen regarding the structure and function of Ethiopian texts and attempts to place them within the proper literary context.

 This book is about how the living soul can attain eternal peace and hence eternal life as a living soul would yield it when abiding in the Lord Jesus Christ. Tapping the Lords Prayer as the authorized spiritual vehicle to communicate with God, this book attests that the name of the Lord Jesus Christ is the foundation, the seal of salvation, and the bearing point to overcome the world. By showing the intrinsic relationship of the invisible with the manifested world, the heavenly and the earthly, this book lucidly defines why the soul should glorify God as an end to lifes purpose while seeking righteousness and fulfilling the commandments. By presenting ground breaking revelations about the spiritual realm and hence the living God through the spiritual compass, this book would help the reader to discern wisdom about how to worship the Lord in truth and spirit to see the glimpse of eternal life and enjoy eternal peace, not as the world offers it but as the Lord Jesus confers it on the living soul.

Prayer or religious book in Geez language from

Ethiopia Xulon Press
 This book contains the revelation of God. It is the Word of God revealed unto me by the Lord. God spoke and dictated unto me the messages, and I wrote what I heard in my own words. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, spent ten years of his life travelling across the kingdom of Judah, healing and driving out demons from numerous people. What were revealed unto me are just a few of the numerous healings and Jesus' interactions with many people. Now we know what Jesus did between the ages of twenty and thirty years. The second part is another divine revelation. The Lord also revealed unto me, using the Bible, the origins and identities of the Asian people, the Jews, the Arabs, the Europeans, and the African people. It is a confirmation that we are all descendants of Abraham and a blessed people of God. This knowledge is to be revealed unto mankind at the end of time, which is now. This is a prophetic time. We are at an era of a new beginning, and thus the revelation of God is manifested unto us now. Mankind shall unite in the knowledge of God and in the blessings of his Son, Jesus Christ, and shall coexist in harmony from now onward. Area Handbook for Ethiopia John Benjamins Publishing This book is designed to cover one year's work in Hebrew leading up to a full understanding of the language. It has been used by the author with his students for many years and the published text is the result of testing and refining over these years. Every attempt has been made to make the grammar clear and simple. For example, all Hebrew words are transliterated, as well as being given in the original for the first three-quarters of the book. The grammatical discussion is made as unsophisticated as possible for it is the author's intention that this book should also be of use to those who study Hebrew without a teacher.

Introduction to Biblical Hebrew Cambridge University Press

Ge'ez is an ancient Ethiopian language which is still important for the liturgy of the Orthodox church. The dictionary is arranged in the order of the Ge'ez syllabary. All the basic as well as the derived forms are presented in the Ge'ez alphabet and in phonetic transcription. The transcription should be helpful in indicating the correct pronunciation of the entries. The dictionary includes nearly all the entries that are considered essential for students of Ge'ez.

African immigration to North America has been rapidly increasing. Yet, little has been written about this significant group of immigrants and the particular religious traditions that they are transplanting on our shores, as scholars continue largely to focus instead on immigrants from Europe and Asia. African Immigrant Religions in America focuses on new understandings and insights concerning the presence and relevance of African immigrant religious communities in the United States. It explores the profound significance of religion in the lives of immigrants and the relevance of these growing communities for U.S. social life. It describes key social and historical aspects of African immigrant religion in the U.S. and builds a conceptual framework for theory and analysis. The volume broadens our understandings of the ways in which new immigration is changing the face of Christianity in the U.S. and adds needed breadth to the study of the black church, incorporating the experiences of African immigrant religious communities in America.

The Wisdom Compass to Eternal Life

This book designed to give knowledge is written about Ethiopia, a nation with long time history known as a country of script and museum of history. For many intellectuals history of Ethiopia has become relevant to / clich' or unique in African history.

Materials covered in this book include transference of Ethiopian heritage to young generation, Sheba's and Ark's history, Amharic language and alphabet, information for tourists, and prayer for Ethio-econo-socio-political development. Since faith has power, life for a Christian is easy because God says in Luke 11:9-10: "Ask and it shall be given to you." In the same token if Ethiopians pray according to John 15:16 and John 16:23-24 in the name of Jesus, to believe in the Cross and to unify the country nothing will prevent to transform their lives and to get answer for their prayer. I, Molla born and raised in Ethiopia/Wollo/ Woldia having a Bachelor's degree in history like to make research in my spare time. Whenever; I write I produce original works. I have submitted my writings in 1990, 1991 and 1994 to Institute of Ethiopian Studies, major research institute of Ethiopia. In those days my writings were about mighty conquerors. After I came to America I accepted Jesus as my personal Savior in 1995. Ever since I accepted Jesus, hungry for the Word of God, I jump for the glory of the Lord whenever; worship starts. As a result miracles in my life continue to flow. Now I am a nurse. Before six years prophesy came to me through Pastor Seifu Kebede (Divine Mission Ministry) that I would be author of books. These days I start to write books to show the greatness of God and the weakness of man. Embracing the Manners, Customs, and Pursuits, of Every Nation Otto Harrassowitz Verlag The first global history of African linguistics as an emerging autonomous academic discipline, covering

Travels to Discover the Source of the Nile: In the years 1769, 1770, 1771, 1772 and 1773 (Complete) Dalcassian

A mixture of scripture, piety and magic forming a series of prayers/supplications for protection, mostly from evil tongues. It is personalised in that the text specifically asks for protection for a particular named person, and was probably written by its first owner who is likely to have been a monk, as his name was Gabremariam, which translates as 'servant of Mary'. Later owners have tried to obliterate that name, and have added their own (the first is Mekonen, the second Welde Teklehaimanot). The original owner's name appears twice, once at the start and once at the end. The background of the original owner/scribe was Amharic, as is shown by the slight deviations from pure Geez (Ethiopic language) by some spelling changes. The summary/introduction on the first page reads (roughly): "In the name of the Father and the Son and the holy Spirit, one God Prayer against the human tongue, enemy people with mal-intention [evil intent?], those who practice black magic, those who cast their shadow on you [this was a threatening practice], and hysteria Save your servant [personal name inserted here]". Then there are the individual supplications. Each of the supplications calls on an aspect of God, or of Christ's life, and after the supplications there is a short treatise on the evil power of the human tongue, then praise for God and a prayer for protection from death. The text mentions a Biblical letter by the apostle James on the power of the tongue. The power of the tongue is very strongly emphasised - blessings and curses, peace and hatred. The rubrication (red lettering in the text) indicates any one of a number of important parts of the text, including the start of a new supplication, and the name of Christ. The book probably dates from the late nineteenth century, possibly the 1880s, and although it would have been extremely important to its original owners, as time has passed and beliefs have changed, a lot of such books would have been sold. -- Information provided by researcher who has studied comparative religion and reads Geez fluently.

The field of color categorization has always been intrinsically multi- and inter-disciplinary, since its beginnings in the nineteenth century. The main contribution of this book is to foster a new level of integration among different approaches to the anthropological study of color. The editors have put great effort into bringing together research from anthropology, linguistics, psychology, semiotics, and a variety of other fields, by promoting the exploration of the different but interacting and complementary ways in which these various perspectives model the domain of color experience. By so doing, they significantly promote the emergence of a coherent field of the anthropology of color. As of February 2018, this e-book is freely available, thanks to the support of libraries working with Knowledge Unlatched.

The focus of this unique publication is on Ethiopian languages and linguistics. Not only major languages such as Amharic and Oromo receive attention, but also lesser studied ones like Sezo and Nuer are dealt with. The Gurage languages, that often present a descriptive and sociolinguistic puzzle to researchers, have received ample coverage. And for the first time in the history of Ethiopian linguistics, two chapters are dedicated to descriptive studies of Ethiopian Sign Language, as well as two studies on acoustic phonetics. Topics range over a wide spectrum of issues covering the lexicon, sociolinguistics, socio-cultural aspects and micro-linguistic studies on the phonology, morphology and syntax of Ethiopian languages.

The book is about the Alpha and Omega God. It is my testimony in regard to the existence and the will of the Deity creator for the entire creation activities. I started to write about this supernatural and omnipotent God from the beginning, which is unknown time. I then proceeded in writing all the way to the time of eternity. In the book, I have talked and tried to prove the creatorship and rulership situation or condition of the Trinity God. I have done this to make peoples of this world believe in existence of the almighty and the ubiquitous God who caused every thing seen and unseen to emerge and exist as they are found now. *A Scientific and Popular Treasury of Useful Knowledge ... The social implications of multilingualism is a field of study on which systematic research began only in the second half of the 20th century in Africa. This book, originally published in 1971, contains papers which concentrate on East Africa but it also discusses theoretical problems and methods arising from socio-linguistic studies outside the African field. These include studies on national languages and languages of wider communication in developing nations; the communication role of languages in multilingual societies; and social and cognitive aspects of bilingualism.

reader may be conversant with ancient histories, in all probability he will know, or have heard this much in general, that the attempt to reach the Source of the Nile, the principal subject of this publication, from very early ages interested all scientific nations: Nor was this great object feebly prosecuted, as men, the first for wisdom, for learning, and spirit (a most necessary qualification in this undertaking) very earnestly interested themselves about the discovery of the sources of this famous river, till disappointment followed disappointment so fast, and consequences produced other consequences so fatal, that the design was entirely given over, as having, upon the fairest trials, appeared impracticable. Even conquerors at the head of immense armies, who had first discovered and then subdued great part of the world, were forced to lower their tone here, and dared scarcely to extend their advances toward this discovery, beyond the limits of bare wishes. At length, if it was not forgot, it was however totally abandoned from the causes above mentioned, and with it all further topographical inquiries in that quarter. Upon the revival of learning and of the arts, the curiosity of mankind had returned with unabated vigour towards this object, but all attempts had met with the same difficulties as before, till, in the beginning of his Majesty's reign, the unconquerable spirit raised in this nation by a long and glorious war, did very naturally resolve itself into a spirit of adventure and inquiry at the return of peace, one of the first-fruits of which was the discovery of these coy fountains¹, till now concealed from the world in general. The great danger and difficulties of this journey were well known, but it was likewise known that it had been completely performed without disappointment or misfortune, that it had been attended with an apparatus of books and instruments, which seldom accompanies the travels of an individual; yet sixteen years had elapsed without any account appearing, which seemed to mark an unusual self-denial, or an absolute indifference towards the wishes of the public. Men, according to their different genius and dispositions, attempted by different ways to penetrate the cause of this silence. The candid, the learned, that species of men, in fine, for whom only it is worth while to travel or to write, supposing (perhaps with some degree of truth) that an undeserved and unexpected neglect and want of patronage had been at least part of the cause, adopted a manner, which, being the most liberal, they thought likely to succeed: They endeavoured to entice me by holding out a prospect of a more generous disposition in the minds of future ministers, when I should shew the claim I had upon them by having promoted the glory of the nation. Others, whom I mention only for the sake of comparison, below all notice on any other ground, attempted to succeed in this by anonymous letters and paragraphs in the newspapers; and thereby absurdly endeavoured to oblige me to publish an account of those travels, which they affected at the same time to believe I had never performed.
