 The second harbors a fair chunk of that rare score, albeit retooled and boosted by two fine new tracks, and emerges as an entirely different Vangelis rendering of Blade Runner. His first version took stuff he liked from the film, jiggered it a bit and added great new music (i.e., Blade Runner Blues) to make his audio rendering of the story.

 Blade Runner is the soundtrack album for the 1982 film Blade Runner, composed by Greek electronic music composer Vangelis. It is mostly a dark, melodic combination of classical composition and synthesizers which mirrors the futuristic film noir envisioned by director Ridley Scott.

 In 1981, Vangelis collaborated with director Ridley Scott to score his science fiction film, Blade Runner (1982). Critics have written that in capturing the isolation and melancholy of Harrison Ford 's character, Rick Deckard, the Vangelis score is as much a part of the dystopian environment as the decaying buildings and ever-present rain.
