As I entered the administration building early on the morning of August 10, 1999, the long narrow hallway was empty. I could hear the click of my heels on the red tile floor as I walked along. When I glanced down the hallway, I noticed a district security guard walking toward me. There was nothing unusual about the morning as we exchanged greetings.

I had arrived around seven thirty that morning. As I was unlocking the outer door to my office, the security guard approached me and said something. As I recall it was basically, "I have a message for you from the superintendent." He then asked me to please remove all of my personal items from my office, give him my office keys, and leave the school district property immediately. Later that evening at my home, a district security guard hand-delivered a memo to me. It began by stating, "Effective immediately, you are suspended with pay, pending a determination by the Board of Trustees whether or not you should be given notice of termination for cause..." I did not need to read any further than the first line of the memo to know that my life was about to change. I cannot say I was surprised, but I did not expect the twists and turns of the journey I was about to begin.

It is challenging to ask the people around you to follow a budget. The more you force people to limit their personal rewards, the more they want to spend. If you want your entire household to follow a budget, you need to 'package' it in a different way. Most professional financial planners, for instance, prefer to call it 'proper allocation of funds' to make their clients accept the idea of budgeting. The true value of budgeting When we follow a budgeting plan, we are not depriving ourselves. Rather, we are forgoing immediate gratification in exchange for greater rewards in the future. If you want to be successful in in the long run, you need to practice letting go of instant gratification. We practice this principle consistently in all areas of life. Most people already have the budgeting skills they need. Most of us know how to avoid unnecessary expenses. If you commute to work for example, you may have selected a route that gets you to work with the least expenses. If we do not follow a budget, we would just take the most convenient means of transportation without thinking of the cost. Because we care about being efficient with our money however, we usually avoid expensive forms of transportation. You are already practicing budgeting in most areas of your life. For most people, their budgeting progress is ruined by just a few financial activities. One of the most common areas where people lack discipline is in eating out. This is a big challenge for most millennial. Other people fail to budget well because of expensive tastes in clothing. A person may be disciplined in the way he spends his money on food, utilities and groceries but when it comes to spending on things that make him happy, he loses control. If you want to reach your financial goals, you need to find out which financial activities hurt your budget. By knowing about your spending weaknesses, you will be able to find strategies that will allow you to improve your budgeting performance in the future.

Creating Your Financial Future

Sourcebooks, Inc.

Managing and Budgeting Money: How to easily budget and manage your money in a simple step by step approach We all know about the famous saying that you will reap what you sow but how many of us stop to think about how this quote really relates to our lives? Well, many of us start off their employment years with great dreams about how they will achieve so much within a very short time. You will hear fresh college grads talking about how they will work hard to climb up the corporate ranks, how they will invest in stocks, real estate and so many other areas of life. But when the first paycheque shows up at the bank account, our thoughts and priorities shift greatly; we start thinking about how we should furnish our homes, how we should buy a brand new car or buy a second car, how we should move to a new neighbourhood, how we should start eating out and so many other thoughts. All these mean that we will be spending. And by the time it is the 15th day of the following month comes, we are dead broke and asking for salary advances from our employers and checking out payday loan sites. Credit cards also become a personal favourite because you can buy what you cannot afford. When you continue with this trend, it doesn't take long before you discover that you have immersed yourself in debt and that you are paying more for credit. And when this happens, you soon start missing credit card payments and payments for other forms of credit. This can be your worst nightmare irrespective of how much money you earn because it not only messes up your financial goals; it can also mess up your career and your family. Well, there is nothing wrong with living the lifestyle you want to live but when this affects your progress in life as far as finances are concerned, then you need to take action. The truth is that you can never become rich by spending. When you sow spending, you reap poverty. You can never move ahead in life by being the biggest spender whether you do it because you have convinced yourself that your job demands a certain lifestyle or not. When you are constantly broke when you are working or running a business, something is definitely wrong with the way you handle your money. Think about it; it takes you about 8 hours a day for 4 straight weeks to make the money you make so it is best to use your money as if it means something to you. So unless you don't mind having to rely on social security in your sunset years, then proper financial management and budgeting skills are essential. But since I know you have had your episodes of not achieving your financial goals because you didn't have the money or are forced to work on a job that you hate because you don't have an option, I will offer all the help you need to help you out of this endless cycle. And after reading this book, you will know how to save, how to budget and how to invest the money that you save. Here is a preview of what you'll learn: Money Management Principles That You Should Live By Fundamentals Of Budgeting And Money Management Step By Step Guide On How To Create A Budget Common Budgeting Mistakes That You Should Avoid Actionable Strategies On How To Save And How To Grow Your Savings And much, much more!
