How the King of Beers collapsed without a fight and what it means for America's place in the post-Recession world How did InBev, a Belgian company controlled by Brazilians, take over one of America's most beloved brands with scarcely a whimper of opposition? Chalk it up to perfect timing—and some unexpected help from powerful members of the Busch dynasty, the very family that had run the company for more than a century. In Dethroning the King, Julie MacIntosh, the award-winning financial journalist who led coverage of the takeover for the Financial Times, details how the drama that unfolded at Anheuser-Busch in 2008 went largely unreported as the world tumbled into a global economic crisis second only to the Great Depression. Today, as the dust settles, questions are being asked about how the "King of Beers" was so easily captured by a foreign corporation, and whether the company's fall mirrors America's dwindling financial and political dominance as a nation. Discusses how the takeover of Anheuser-Busch will be seen as a defining moment in U.S. business history Reveals the critical missteps taken by the Busch family and the Anheuser-Busch board Argues that Anheuser-Busch had a chance to save itself from InBev's clutches, but infighting and dysfunctionality behind the scenes forced it to capitulate From America's heartland to the European continent to Brazil, Dethroning the King is the ultimate corporate caper and a fascinating case study that's both wide reaching and profound. Advertising Management GRIN Verlag

Alcohol Beverage Advertising Act, S. 664 Prentice Hall Seminar paper from the year 2000 in the subject Communications - Public Relations, Advertising, Marketing, Social Media, grade: sehr gut, Leeds Metropolitan University, language: English, abstract: One of the reasons for choosing to analyse the company Anheuser-Busch with its brand family Budweiser lies in the fact that every group member already had experience in writing reports about relatively "small" (European) companies and therefore preferred analysing the largest beer brewer in the world. The group consisted of 5 people from different countries (Sweden, Austria, Germany and Holland) who came to England with the European Erasmus programme. The work as a team has been helpful and challenging, in fact the cultural differences have helped providing the group with different point of views and interesting information from the own background. The report contains the following key-points in order to give a comprehensible structure and consequently a good analysis of the company Budweiser: · Situation Analysis · Marketing Analysis · Recommendations The situation analysis gives an internal and external view of the chosen company and provides the reader with a general knowledge to understand the marketing analysis and the following recommendations. As the language knowledge might not be at the same level of other English students the group members excuse themselves and hope that the ideas will nevertheless be understandable.

On 11 November 2015, Carlos Brito, chief executive of global leading beer brewer Anheuser-Busch InBev (AB InBev), presented his final offer of US$105.5 billion (£69.8 or £44 pounds per share), to acquire its rival, SABMiller, which the company accepted. The acquisition process had started in September and just over a month later, on 13 October, SABMiller had accepted the offer in principle, but had certain requirements before it would accept. Such a massive transaction could well present hurdles one being anti-competitive issues. But would this acquisition deliver synergies soon enough for InBev, Brito wondered?
