Over two hundred and thirty years ago the Fallocaust happened, killing almost everything that lived and creating what is now known as the greywastes. A dead wasteland where cannibalism is a necessity, death your reality, and life before the radiation nothing but pictures in dog-eared magazines. Reaver is a greywaster, living in a small block controlled by a distant ruler said to have started the Fallocaust. He is a product of the savage world he was raised in and prides himself on being cold and cruel. Then someone new to his town catches his eye, someone different than everyone else. Without knowing why he starts to silently stalk him, unaware of where it will lead him.

First 101 Words McDougal Littell/Houghton Mifflin

Abandoned. Unwanted. Orphan. In a time of war between mankind and fae, no one ventures outside of the safety of the human kingdom. Abandoned in the furthest corner of Amnestia, in a convent long forgotten by most, Cress grows up thinking she's nothing more than a human of horrendous skill and grace. One moment, the quiet countryside of Amnestia where she's been raised her whole life is devoid of any danger and the next, it's there. Powered by a strange magical spell, a castle appears seemingly from nowhere. Ruled by a court of fae few humans had ever laid eyes on and lived to tell the tale, Cress stumbles right into the center of three royal princes. There, she discovers that perhaps she's not a human at all, but a changeling--a fae child left behind in the ancient tradition of an extinct court. In the face of possible execution, she better hope she's a fae, because the worst thing a girl can be in the court of crimson is human.

FRONT COVER Top: Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, gangster, responsible, as head of "Murder Inc.," for up to 700 contract killings. Highest-ranking mobster ever to die in the electric chair. Crude; lacks refinement. Bottom: Russian-Jewish "gangster capitalists" Vladimir Gusinsky (left) and Boris Berezovsky (right) drink to the "free market" (an economic fad) after scooping up trillions of dollars worth of natural resources for pennies on the dollar in crooked "privatization" schemes with copious assistance from Chechen gunmen and assassins, destroying the economy of the country, reducing over a hundred million people to abject poverty, with a crash in the birth rate, mass homelessness, hundreds of thousands of suicides, murders, "disappearances" and premature deaths through malnutrition and alcohol poisoning. Much better.

A dark, engrossing, blood-drenched tale of the familiar threats to female power—and one girl's journey to regain it. Five starred reviews greeted this powerful story from Elana K. Arnold, author of the Printz Honor winner Damsel. You are alone in the woods, seen only by the unblinking yellow moon. Your hands are empty. You are nearly naked. And the wolf is angry. Since her grandmother became her caretaker when she was four years old, Bisou Martel has lived a quiet life in a little house in Seattle. She's kept mostly to herself. She's been good. But then comes the night of homecoming, when she finds herself running for her life over roots and between trees, a fury of claws and teeth behind her. A wolf attacks. Bisou fights back. A new moon rises. And with it, questions. About the blood in Bisou's past, and on her hands as she stumbles home. About broken boys and vicious wolves.
