Are you successful in your life? Do you motivate people? Do people pay attention to you by getting impressed by your persona? Are you successful in maintaining your personal and professional relationships? If you do not have any definite answers, then these problems would be solved only through complete personality development, because personality plays an important role in increasing success, fame and honour of a person, but a common man of our country does not take much interest in his personality development. Their only notion behind this is that they consider the effort of polishing personality as a mere ostentation and thus, they avoid living in a proper order. Whereas in the modern era, if one has to get success, one must focus on complete personality development. It is your personality that leaves an impact on people and motivated by this impact, they start following you.

This book provides multiple frameworks and paradigms for social work education which integrates indigenous theories and cultural practices. It focuses on the need to diversify and reorient social work curriculum to include indigenous traditions of service, charity and volunteerism to help social work evolve as a profession in India. The volume analyzes the history of social work education in India and how the discipline has adapted and changed in the last 80 years. It emphasizes the need for the Indianization of social work curriculum so that it can be applied to the socio-cultural contours of a diverse Indian society. The book delineates strategies and methods derived from meditation, yoga, bhakti and ancient Buddhist and Hindu philosophy to prepare social work practitioners with the knowledge, and skills, that will support and enhance their ability to work in partnership with diverse communities and indigenous people. This book is essential reading for teachers, educators, field practitioners and students of social work, sociology, religious studies, ancient philosophy, law and social entrepreneurship. It will also interest policy makers and those associated with civil society organizations.

The novels in India is conventionally thought to have emerged in the middle of the nineteenth century. The year of the Rebellion, 1857, also saw the publication of Alaler Gharer Dulal, upon which Bankimchandra Chatterji, who himself holds a lofty place in the development of the novel in India, lavished praise as a beautifully written work.

Ishwarbhai Joshi Constantly This volume is an attempt to integrate the theory and data of social and personality development within a modern evolutionary framework. The various chapters are not meant to be read in isolation from one another but rather are intended to form an integrated whole. There is thus a great deal of cross-referencing between chapters and to some extent they all stand or fall together. This also suggests that the accuracy (or usefulness) of a particular

 Dr. Joseph Murphy, the author of The Power of Your Subconscious Mind, wrote this book as a manual to teach people how to pray. He teaches how to maintain prayer as a part of one's everyday activity, as well as how to use prayer in the case of danger or an emergency. According to Murphy, prayer is an ever-present help in time of trouble, but you do not have to wait for trouble to make prayer an integral and constructive part of your life. People can find the source of their goodness and get the results they desire through proper prayer. Your desire is your prayer. Picture the fulfillment of your desire now and feel its reality and you will experience the joy of the answered. -Dr. Joseph Murphy
