Kovu Moyoni ni hadithi
ya kulisimua

inayosimulia matukio
katika kijiji cha Siloko
katika nchi huru ya Tandika. Inahusu
mapambano ya mjane
mmoja dhidi ya
utawala dhalimu
unaolinda na kulifadhili
genge la wanamgambo
la vijana
wanaoshambulia na
kupora kijiji cha Siloko
kwa kisingizio cha
kuondoa watu wasio
wenyeji. Serikali
ambayo Boke
anatarajia imlinda na
mali yake inafeli katika
jukumu lake la kimsingi
na badala yake
inalinda kundi lenye
uwezo mkubwa la
wanyakuzi wa ardhi na
mibabe wa kivita. Kovu Moyoni ('Scar in the Heart') is a fast moving story set in a fictional village of Siloko in a post-independent
nation called Tandika.
It is the story of one
widow's struggle

against an oppressive regime represented by a local militia group, 'Jeshi la Vijana' or the 'Youth Army', who attack and plunder her village of Siloko under the pretext of cleansing non-natives. The government to which Boke looks to protect her and her property fails in its primary responsibility and instead protects the criminally powerful cartel of land-grabbers and war-lords. This story is heart-breaking if shocking. But the author keeps tight reign on the narrative act: beautifully rendered the prose flows effortlessly painting the horrors and pathos of a community under siege. In this novel, Professor John Habwe displays a maturity that offers insight and depth into the psychology of violence and post-colonial oppression. It is a story that will disturb and prick your conscience. If this story is a depiction of Boke's various scars inflicted by a modern day corrupt state, it is also a statement about our own complicity. It is a story of love, loss, alienation and hope. It is a celebration of the human spirit that refuses to die in the face of untold suffering.
